Three Key Men Assigned Task Reselling NRA

WASHINGTON, June 17.—(P)—The possibility that new legislation might be sought at this session of congress for NRA was characterized today by James L. O'Neill, its new chief, as "entirely an open question."

The president, in formally announcing the new restricted NRA set up, indicated legislation might be sought in the future, but did not mention the possibility of proposing it at this session.

"It is impossible to state affirmatively or negatively whether there will be new legislation now," O'Neill said in his first press conference.

"Some congressmen, however, believe that a more positive law should be sought. First, we shall have to see what can be done under this act."

WASHINGTON, June 17.—(P)—The three key men of the midwest NRA set out today on an attempt to "sell" its principles to the public, business and labor.

These men—headed by James L. O'Neill, vice-president of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York—planned a selling campaign on what was termed an "educational" basis—not a high pressure effort such as characterized the birth of the original Blue Eagle. They may use a changed Blue Eagle as their emblem.

O'Neill said in a statement that NRA personnel would be continued "in their present positions on a temporary basis until further order."

He characterized adjustment of the "organization and its personnel" as the "most pressing problem."

"That adjustment," he said, "cannot be made intelligently without planning the work itself. The next few weeks will be devoted to developing such plans, and announcements will be made as soon as possible concerning appropriate changes in personnel."

The old NRA expired last night at midnight. A few hours before President Roosevelt in an executive order formally created the new "stop gap" NRA enacted by congress last week and named O'Neill as acting administrator.

A "possibility of further legislation" was held forth by the president. Just what it would be was not disclosed, but observers believed it would depend largely upon the public reaction to economic data gathered by the new organization between now

JAPAN INSISTS ON CONTROLLING APPOINTMENT NEW OFFICIALS

By ALBERT W. WILSON
Associated Press Foreign Staff

LONDON, June 17.—(P)—Reliable sources revealed today that Great Britain has asked both the Japanese and Chinese governments for clarification of reports that Japan insists upon controlling the appointment of new officials in North China.

Semi-official circles said they believed this move by the British government indicated a grave view was being taken of the Chinese situation and it was considered that this particular aspect of Japanese activities in China might lead to representation under the nine-power treaty.

MEXICO, D. F., June 17.—(P)—General Plutarco Elias Calles, one-time strong man of Mexico, withdrew from the political scene today, liquidating a five-days' crisis.

The former president, who came into office after the resignations of his ministers, drove ahead with his drafting of a new government to be named tonight. It was expected to include ministers considered too radical by Calles.

Competent observers believed that any possibility of armed disorders passed with the withdrawal of Calles and that no further TOKYO, June 17.—(P)—The Rengo (Japanese) news agency correspondent at Hsinking Manchoukuo, reported today that the high military council at Hsinking had decided Gen. Sung Chieh-Yuan, governor of Chahar province, China, must quit office.

The military council, it was reported, decided that if the Chinese national government did not remove General Sung, the Japanese army would have to do so.

The report was interpreted as

WAR VESSELS SLIPPED AWAY TO SEA UNDER HEAVY GUN FIRE

(Copyright, 1935, By Associated Press.)

HONGKONG, June 17.—(P)—The Canton government's two greatest cruisers deserted today, running the gamut of a scorching cross-fire from the loyal Bocatris forts at Canton and slipping away to sea.

The cruisers, the Haichi and Haishen, ran aground and were stuck for twenty hours below Whampoa, while troops turned machine guns on them from shore. Finally they escaped.

It was presumed they were making for Fujian port of Shanghai. The cruisers had deserted the Nanking government for the Canton command in 1933.

The members of the crew, most of them northerners, had expressed dissatisfaction with their pay and conditions of service for Canton.

When they first sought to desert, they were sighted from the forts and engaged in a fierce artillery duel while the government sent up airplanes bearing bombs.

An official statement said the ship's crews had surrendered and were imprisoned even while the fighting was proceeding from the forts. Soon afterward, however, it was learned they had escaped.

BARBARISM AND SAVAGERY TO FOLLOW "SELF-SUFFICIENCY" ROLE AVERS SECRETARY HULL

ANN ARBOR, Mich., June 17.—(P)—A return to the "dark ages" of barbarism and savagery was foreseen here today by Secretary Hull in his address to the world parliament in pursuing a policy of "self-sufficiency."

Addressing the graduating class of the University of Michigan, Hull said there were but two alternatives—"either we go forward to other greater achievements of material and spiritual culture with a concomitant growth of every kind of material and spiritual interchange within each nation and as between nations, or we must recognize that our culture has reached its apex and is entering into definite decline and decay."

In the latter case—and in that case only—he said, "every manner of relationship built up in preceding centuries will become loosened and dissolved and nations will again achieve self-sufficiency—the self-sufficiency of barbarism and savagery."

"This last picture is an extreme but the directions, to my mind, are clear. And the possibility of a return to the dark ages in some

BASEL, Switzerland, June 17.—(P)—An entente between the United States, England and France to stabilize world currencies was discussed today by bankers assembled for a meeting of the bank for international settlements.

The financiers expressed confidence that such an entente, designed to include Japan eventually, would be sufficient to bring stabilization of world monies.

The delegates, however, agreed that the recent suggestion of Secretary Morgenthau of the United States treasury for an international stabilization conference came too early in view of Great Britain's reluctance.

ROAD ENTHUSIASTS FROM TEXAS SEEK ADDITIONAL FUNDS

DELEGATION HEADED BY HARRY HINES, HIGHWAY CHAIRMAN, VISIT CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, June 17.—(P)—More than a score of Texas road enthusiasts, headed by Harry Hines, chairman of the state highway commission, began laying plans today to seek $100,000,000 from the government for highway improvement.

Although available and prospective allocations total between $28,000,000 and $30,000,000, they claim more than three times that total is needed badly.

Hines said the delegation, representing the state financial and industrial leadership, would spend the next few days discussing "strategy" with their senators and representatives and the bureau of public roads.

Public Has Projects. "Texas has the capacity of putting a great number of men to work on good highway projects and therefore put a lot of money in circulation," Hines said.

He said the projects and money have the projects and money have the unemployment and can start work in accordance with the wishes of Washington officials.

"It looks like we would be eligible for between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 emergency funds under the Hayden-Carrington road law in view of the serious damage to highways and bridges in Texas in the last 36 hours by floods."

He indicated the delegation would ask for the huge increase in federal allocations partly on the theory that many projects are

TEMPORARY TAXES EXTENDED MONDAY TWO MORE YEARS

WASHINGTON, June 17.—(P)—In a headlong rush to pass four "must" administration bills this week, the house today approved and sent to the senate a resolution extending for two years "temporary" taxes which bring in $501,000,000 annually.

Unless the senate approves the resolution by June 30, the treasury will lose about $1,500,000 in revenue daily because most of the extended taxes expire at the end of the month.

The house adopted the extension resolution after only 40 minutes of debate under a "gag" rule forbidding consideration of amendments.

Immediately, the amendments to the farm adjustment act were called up for debate.

TEXAS CRESTS MOVING SOUTH LOSS HEAVY

(By The Associated Press.)

The Republican river which two weeks ago caused scores of deaths and property damage estimated at $13,000,000 in south central Nebraska, swept out of its banks again today, inundated thousands of acres of land and washed out reconstructed railroad tracks and several bridges.

Swollen by cloudbursts and steady rains in the territory drained by its tributaries, the stream was a mile wide at McCook and three-fourths of a mile at Trenton, no loss of life was reported from the new floods, families who had just returned to their homes in the lowlands fleeing to the hills again upon a warning by police.

From three to six inches of rain fell yesterday, and while the rains had ceased in the section today, heavy clouds threatened additional downpours.

Residents of the lowlands of the river near St. Francis, Kas., watched apprehensively as the normally 20 foot wide stream spread to three-quarters of a mile, and prepared to evacuate immediately should it rise still further.

Similar alarm was felt by lowland dwellers and farmers in south Texas as streams rose there. In the central portion of the state streams receded. The known Texas death list stood at 13, and fears were expressed that more bodies would be found. Hundreds of persons were still marooned, and as in Nebraska, many highways were impassable.

AUSTIN, June 17.—(P)—The crest of surging Colorado river flood waters swirled past LeGrange, 65 miles southeast of here at 52 feet shortly before noon and tumbled on towards Columbus, 30 miles down-stream.

There was no loss of life in the LaGrange community, Mayor C. C. Robson reported.

The muddy waters swirled near the business district, Mayor Robson said. A rise of another foot would have covered much of the town, he said. A mile wide, the river inundated many acres of rich farming land.

All residents of the lowlands, warned since Friday to evacuate, safely fled to higher ground.

Columbus prepared for a crest of from 40 to 45 feet. Mayor C. A. Zumwalt said residents of low areas had been warned to evacuate. Preparations have been made to feed and house more than a hundred families forced from homes in the Columbus area, and seventy families in the river bottoms near Sable Lake.

The death toll mounted to 13

Governor Asks Contributions to Red Cross Funds

AUSTIN, June 17.—(P)—Governor Allred appealed today for contributions to the Red Cross for funds to carry on relief work in flooded areas.

"The disastrous floods in Central and South Texas," he said, "have resulted in suffering and sorrow. Many families are homeless, without food, and, worse, without medical care."

Unless immediate steps were taken, he warned "epidemics are likely to follow." He said the Red Cross "sorely needs additional funds" to continue.

The governor commended city and county officers, the highway department and its highway patrol, national guardsmen, volunteers from the American Legion and citizens "for the unusual co-operative spirit displayed during the Colorado river flood."

He also praised the work of owners of private planes, a coast guard ship from Galveston, four national guard planes from Houston and several army planes for assistance in warning residents of lowlands to evacuate areas that were flooded.

ADMINISTRATION TO FACE HARD FIGHT ON SECURITY PLANS

HALF DOZEN MAJOR CHANGES PROPOSED IN BILL BEFORE SENATE

By NATHAN ROBERTSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

WASHINGTON, June 17.—(P)—Administration leaders sought today to fight off half a dozen major proposals for liberalizing or modifying the Roosevelt social security program.

With a final vote on the bill expected in the senate by the middle of the week, chief press secretary said today that Great Britain alone will regulate the actual sizes of both the British and German navies under the terms of a hitherto secret provision of their 1930 to 35 ratification agreement.

By this step, allowing Great Britain to be the virtual dictator of the new Nazi navy, Reichsbanner Hitler was said by this authority to be regarded as having taken a bold move toward winning the confidence and support of Great Britain.

It was said that Germany accepted the role of being merely a consultant in determining the tonnage strengths of the two fleets in return for the British approval of her having a navy far in excess of the Versailles treaty limitations.

In other words, Germany is regarded as having given up to Great Britain the right of increasing her navy because of the action of some third power.

PRISON DOORS OPEN TO CLARA PHILLIPS CALIFORNIA MONDAY

FORMER "TIGER WOMAN" SAYS MORE KINDNESS IN JAIL THAN OUT

TEHACHA, Cal., June 17.—(AP)—Clara Phillips, the woman they called a tiger because she slew another woman with a hammer, walked out of prison doors today free.

"I can hardly believe it's true," she said, with eyes bright, hands shaking and voice quivering. She was nervous, agitated, wholly unlike the woman 15 years ago who was arrested for beating Alberta Meadows to death in a secluded spot in Eastern Los Angeles.

She looked more like an actress than a woman released after being held more than 12 years in the state penitentiary on a charge of murder.

A small black hat fit snugly over her wavy hair, a longish bob, and she wore a blue and white flowered dress.

TEHACHA, Cal., June 17.—(AP)—The gates of California's prison for women swung open today to send Clara Phillips, "hammer slayer" of nearly 15 years ago, into the world once more again as a free woman.

"I am not bitter," said Mrs. Phillips as she prepared to leave prison on parole. "All I want is that people will leave me alone and give me an even break."

There was speculation among Mrs. Phillips' acquaintances as to whether her husband, Armour, who said when his wife was convicted of second degree murder that he would be waiting for her when she came from prison, would be on hand to greet her. Phillips was last reported in the East.

"I am particularly grateful to the family of my husband at Galveston, Texas, for their attitude toward me since I have been confined," said Mrs. Phillips, who declined to talk about her husband.

Mrs. Phillips, who had been in prison slightly more than 12 years, was convicted of killing Mrs. Alberta Meadows, a divorcee whom she suspected of intimacy with her husband. She lured the victim to a secluded road where she beat her with a hammer.

Later, while awaiting transfer to the state prison, she escaped from the county jail to be recaptured months later in Central America.

"There's more kindness in the world behind the bars than in the world outside," she said, declaring her main reason for getting out on parole is that she wishes to see her mother.

Mrs. Phillips said she has no plans for the present, but later may follow up on the parole which has been studying while a prisoner and take the state examination. She will first visit her sister, Miss Ola Weaver, at La Mesa, near San Diego.

PRESIDENT VETOES LEGISLATION FOR CERTAIN REFUNDS

WASHINGTON, June 17.—(AP)—Legislation which would allow certain tax refunds to a number of building aid loan associations which had not submitted their claims within the prescribed time was vetoed today by President Roosevelt.

"Congress has determined, he said in a message to the senate, that it is sound policy to include in all the revenue acts, statutes of limitations, by the operation of which, after a certain period of time, it becomes impossible for the government to collect additional taxes or for the taxpayers to obtain a refund on overpayment of taxes."

"This bill selects a small class of taxpayers for special treatment by excepting them from this policy. The whole body of federal taxpayers is thus discriminated against, and a precedent is established, opening the door to relief in all cases in which the statute operates to the prejudice of a particular taxpayer, while leaving the door closed to the government in those cases in which the statute operates to the disadvantage of the government."

The measure was introduced by Senator Bulkley (D-Ohio). "Mr. Roosevelt also vetoed a bill which would repeal the act and next April 1 when its life expires.

There was still no word as to what the New Deal's official attitude would be toward any attempt to amend the constitution to permit codes.

Marshall Reviews Codes. Leon C. Marshall, a member of the old recovery board, was appointed as head of the "Division of Review" to survey the effects of the old codes, demolished by the supreme court and assemble the data.

A second division set up by the president was the "Division of Business Co-operation" with Fred L. Cooney as its head. Its purpose will be "to aid in the voluntary maintenance by trade and industrial groups of standards of fair competition" and in the elimination of unfair competition.

This was interpreted as leaving the way open for voluntary codes limited in scope to labor, minimum wages, child labor and fair competitive practices not in violation of the anti-trust laws. How effective these codes will be was a matter of debate. The president holds that a minority can defeat their purposes.

To collect facts of code operation, NRA sources said, public confidence and the support of business and labor is necessary. This, then, they said, would be the keynote of the selling campaign, with emphasis on a "friendly" attitude.

May Retain Insignia. Serious consideration is being given to using a modified Blue Eagle insignia at least in certain industries, such as the clothing trades.

O'Neill, Marshall and Cooney were made directly responsible to the president. An advisory council of six members was named to help them. On this council will be Charles Edison and Howell Cheney for industry; William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Philip Murray, vice president of the United Mine Workers, for labor; Emily Newell Blair and Walton H. Hamilton, for consumers.

George L. Berry, president of the International Pressmen's Union, was named as assistant to O'Neill, to represent labor. O'Neill and his aides were directed to reduce the present 5,000 personnel "as rapidly as possible" but to retain "essential members" who could be "usefully employed."

She may call attention to the fact if some other power makes a move to expand its navy, but then it would be left to Great Britain to decide whether both Great Britain and Germany should increase their navies, meanwhile preserving the 100 to 35 ratio.

Great Britain was said to be hopeful that the agreement with Germany would lead to an international agreement under which the five present naval powers—Great Britain, the United States, Japan, France, and Italy—with Russia and Germany would agree simultaneously to publish long-term naval building programs.

Reports that Great Britain would suggest to the United States the abandonment of naval ratios were denied authoritatively, but it was said the Washington government has known for several months that Great Britain believes making naval public might yet be acceptable to the Japanese.

Diplomatic quarters said they considered that a suggestion for the abandonment of the Washington treaty ratios could hardly come from Great Britain now in view of a ratio agreement with Germany.

British authorities, themselves, denied they opposed ratios but said they proposed making the programs public as a possible basis for agreement if the continuation of the ratios is out of the question. The British admitted to the American delegates to the London naval conversations last autumn that they felt there was no practical alternative to the ratio system.

Under a scheme of voluntary declaration of naval programs, the Americans pointed out, there would be no preventing supplementary programs being issued as soon as one nation knew what another planned. Although it would end secret building, the plan, it was feared, would fail to deter competition.

The applications will be sent off the latter part of this week.

It was also pointed out by Coston that planting on land for the first time since 1927 requires the same application as for cotton planting the two past years. STOCK MARKET HALTED TO CATCH ITS BREATH TODAY

NO INDICATIONS OF ANY SERIOUS BACKSLIDE;
FIRM UNDERTONE

NEW YORK, June 17.—(P)—While the utilities and scattered specialties displayed a firm undertone, profit taking appeared in other sections of the stock market today and closing prices were somewhat irregular. Such reactions as occurred here attributed largely to technical factors. Transfers approximated $25,000 shares.

By VICTOR EUBANK
Associated Press Financial Writer
NEW YORK, June 17.—(P)—The stock market halted to catch its breath today although there were no indications of any serious backslide.

While profit taking appeared in various shares that have been climbing the fastest, a firm undertone was displayed by the utilities. The rails were about steady and scattered specialties developed strength. Dullness accompanied the mild selling furries.

Grains rallied on higher Liverpool prices. Cotton was rather narrow. Traders continued to nibble at secondary carrier bonds. Sterling dipped in foreign exchange dealings and the French franc exhibited substantial improvement.

Despite the somewhat spotty price picture, several new highs for the year were registered. Advances of fractions to point or so were marked up by Case, Safeway Stores, Timken Roller Bearing, Collins and Alkman, Auburn, International Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Public Service of New Jersey, General Electric, American Telephone and Western Union.

U. S. Smelting, Cerro de Pasco, American Smelting and Anaconda, Inland Empire, and U. S. Steel lost about a point each, and Westinghouse and Bethlehem were a bit heavy.

The downward tendency of a few mining issues was said to reflect doubts as to just how far the treasury will go in its silver buying program. Imported bar silver at New York was reduced 3-8 of a cent an ounce to 72 1/2 cents.

The financial sector apparently did not show any great interest in the propping up of the NRA skeleton. There were conjectures as to just what the president meant when he spoke of "possibility of further legislation" in connection with the recovery agency. Congressional activities, generally, were not considered exciting.

Modest Curb Improvement.
NEW YORK, June 17.—(P)—Modest improvement in utility shares gave the curb market a steady tone today. With the exception of metals which were neglected, gains of minor fractions to nearly a point were well distributed over the list. Trading was fairly active.

Active utilities selling higher included American Gas, Cities Service, Electric Bond and Share, Pennsylvania Water and Power, and Niagara Hudson. An assortment of oil stocks, including American Cynamid "B", Gulf Oil, Parker Rust Pross and Seaman Bros.

Longview, June 17.—(P)—A defense motion to quash the indictment against Frank A. Smith with conspiracy to bribe was overruled today by District Judge D. A. Montgomery.

Selection of a jury to try the case then Smith is a railroad commissioner of Lon A. Smith, railroad commissioner. Smith, with Harry Goldman and Bill Anderson, were charged with conspiracy to bribe a witness to stay out of the state while charges against them and others for alleged theft of oil were pending. Goldman was convicted recently. The cases of both Smith and Anderson were called for today. But the defense wants Smith tried first.

Two Killed, Another Hurt When Auto Hits Culvert Near Tomball

HOUTON, June 17.—(P)—Two young men were dead today and another was in a serious condition in a hospital after their automobile struck a culvert last night near Tomball. The dead were Lee Franklin Sterling, 25, of Houston, and Governor Ross Sterling and Houston Harper, 28, of Tomball. Beauford Claude Carroll, 20, of Tomball, was badly hurt. They were returning from a wedding at the time the accident happened.

Joe Ezar Competing Scottish Open Play

GLEN EAGLES, Scotland, June 17.—(P)—Joe Ezar of Waco, Tex., scored a 72 in the first round of the Scottish Open golf championship today on the Glen Eagles course. The Texas professional is one of a half dozen players scheduled to compete in the British Open championship at Muirfield next week.

After tomorrow's 18-hole round the field will be reduced to the sixty low scorers and ties for the 36-hole stretch drive on Wednesday.

Bootleggers Kidnap Sheriff In Maryland

JASPER, June 17.—(P)—Three alleged bootleggers kidnaped Sheriff Ed Leugers while he was bringing them to jail today but released him later. The men were from Boonville, twenty-five miles southwest of here. The sheriff arrested the men, he said, when he found illicit liquor in an automobile ditched near here.

TEXAS CAPITOL IS SHOWPLACE FOR LOCAL AND OUT-OF-STATE TOURISTS IN SUMMER SEASON

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL
AUSTIN, June 17.—(P)—This is the season when the Texas capitol, especially the dome, receives a critical once-over not only from patriotic Texans but also from out-of-staters to whom the sight is unusual.

All hours of the day visitors pour through the halls of the historic structures, peering in the offices at the workers, jamming the elevators for a ride to the fourth floor, as high as the elevators go.

From there they climb two iron stairs, the last almost vertical, and finally emerge in a balcony near the top of the dome, whence through great windows a magnificent view of the city is had. Sometimes the windows are open and one can step through to an out-door balcony.

Women in trousers, men in sporting garb, nearly nearly everyone sunburned, hatless and breathless, the procession goes on. It will continue, say the watchmen, through June, July and August.

Said Lon Smith, member of the railroad commission, "I don't take many holidays." "I don't take many holidays," he said, "but I do take a few days off when the anniversary of Jefferson Davis' birthday when nearly all state departments were closed."

Attorney General William McCraw and Secretary of State General C. Mann also were in their offices, the former conferring with assistants on his program to stop violations of oil conservation laws.

Work was being done in the governor's offices, too, although Governor Alfred was attending a tomato festival in East Texas.

July 4 is the next holiday which will be observed generally

In the capitol. Like Christmas and New Year's it is a day when all state business ceases.

The quietest place in the capitol? Possibly the little room in the northwest corner of the basement where priceless state archives are stored.

The door always is locked even when work is going on inside, but a ring of a buzzer will open the door for the visitor with business. It is a precaution against thieves.

Usually, within the tiny library, only the tapping of a "noiseless" typewriter can be heard or the low voice of someone poring through old documents, talking to the custodian.

When the legislature is in session shouts of a speaker in the house of representatives now and then drift through open windows.

Miss Harriet Smith has been custodian for ten years.

Father and son differed on the pardons granted by Governor Alfred to Roy Collins and Eziquel Cavazos, a United States customs patrolman and a special deputy, respectively.

He was given three and two-year sentences on conviction in federal court at Brownsville of murder in connection with the death of Domingo Olivares.

The governor received a telegram from R. B. Renfro, district attorney protesting the pardons. He also had one from Renfro's father, R. B. Renfro, mayor of Brownsville, advocating them.

"It was the first kick-back I have had on my klemency," Governor Alfred said. "Out of 150 to 200 clemencies there had been not one previous protest."

"Save the constitution" was the rallying cry sounded at the Republican "grass roots" convention at Springfield, Ill., by Harrison E. Spangler, temporary chairman and keynoter, shown at top as he presided at the assembly. Political observers predict an alliance between Spangler followers and Milo Reno, below, farm strike leader.

ENNIS MAN SHOTS TWO, RELOADS GUN AND KILLS HIMSELF

WIFE AND FATHER-IN-LAW
VICTIMS OF ELLIS COUN-TY BARBER

WAXAHACHIE, June 17.—(P)—E. W. (Red) Latham, Ennis barber, hid in a corn field yesterday and killed his estranged wife and his father-in-law, Cleve Simonon of Temple, as they walked along a road 10 miles south of here.

Then, as Mrs. Simonon looked on, he reloaded his shotgun and fired a fatal charge into his head.

The officer said Latham, 31, Simonon told him the barber fired upon the group after they had walked a short distance past his hiding place.

"He didn't say a word to any of us," Mrs. Simonon was quoted by the sheriff. "He made no attempt to shoot me. He had always liked me, and I guess that's the only reason he didn't shoot me," she said.

The officer said Latham and his wife had been separated a few days.

Sheriff Fears said Justice of the Peace Adkins reported verdict of murder and suicide.

The bodies were sent to Temple.

Injunction Hearing On Marble Machines

AUSTIN, June 17.—(P)—Attorney General McCraw was advised today a hearing in district court in Limestone county was set for June 22 on a motion to dissolve a temporary injunction which restrained officers from interfering with operation of marble machines.

McCraw said Vernon Coe, an assistant, would represent the state at that hearing, and also one June 19 before the Galveston court in setting up codes, covering some of the same practices as NRA's, but without labor provisions.

At NRA—where some predict the payroll will be slashed from 5,400 workers to 1,500 or less—gloom prevailed.

The leaders hoped to obtain a vote by Tuesday on the security program, already passed by the house. A shower of amendment proposals foreshadowed much fighting, however.

A major controversy centered around the question whether existing private pension systems shall be permitted to continue provided they meet certain standards.

The object of the house leaders today was to get a lot of miscellaneous legislation out of the way so the bill extending $500,000 in present taxes, including "a" "a" levies could be passed Monday. The present aim is to pass it under a "log" rule.

After that, the leaders planned to call up the amendments bolstering the AAA, which have been rewritten in the hope they will conform to the supreme court's NRA decision.

Allred and Family Start on Vacation

AUSTIN, June 17.—(P)—Governor Allred and his family left today for a family vacation of a "week or 10 days" through West Texas.

His staff said the governor would not disclose his destination for he planned a vacation from the affairs of state.

"The governor is all tired out," said Pat Moreland, his secretary, "and he needs a rest, which he hopes to get on this trip."

He also said he wanted to see the amounts of pensions increased.

Grimly, a group of "freshmen" senators who have announced that they are fed up on Long's tactics went to the senate chamber prepared to make every effort to keep him within the bounds of "senatorial courtesy."

The group, headed by Senator Schwelmbach (D-Wash.), made no announcement as to what they would do if he started a filibuster on the security bill.

Chairman Harrison (D-Miss) of the senate finance committee hoped the social security bill would go through the senate early next week.

MISS MARION ORR AND PAUL E. GOODWIN UNITED IN QUITE RITUAL; LUNCHEON FOLLOWED

The marriage of Miss Marion Orr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Orr, 1907 West seventh avenue, to Mr. Paul E. Goodwin of Jacksonville, formerly of Troup, was solemnized Saturday afternoon, June 15, at 6 o'clock in a quiet, but very beautiful home.

The Rev. Joe Z. Tower, presiding elder of the Tyler district, and brother-in-law of the groom, performed the impressive double ring ceremony in the presence of members of the two families and a few close friends.

The ceremony was read before an improvised altar of ferns and baskets of lovely pink gladioli, arranged in the archway between the living room and dining room, and flanked with glowing white cathedral candles in floor candelabra.

Bowls of colorful snapdragons and zinnias were used to advantage throughout the living room.

The bride selected a suit of white, triple sheer which she wore with brown accessories, and her flowers were white, carnations and fresh baby's breath made into a shoulder corsage, tied with silver ribbons.

Mrs. Jimmie Cone of Jacksonville, and Mrs. "You Truly," prior to the entrance of the bride and groom, with Mrs. Duke of Jacksonville, playing the accompaniment and the wedding march.

The bride is head of the music department of Lon Morris College as well as choir director and organist of the First Methodist church of Jacksonville.

Mr. Goodwin is science and math teacher in the Lon Morris College, and both are graduates of Southern Methodist University, Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin returned to Jacksonville following the lovely buffet supper and reception, and are pleasantly located in a cozy apartment in the Lula Morris Hall.

Before departure, the bride changed her wedding gown for a becoming boucle in shades of rose hue, which was worn with brown accessories.

Among the out-of-town relatives and friends were the Rev. Joe Z. Tower and Mrs. Tower, sister of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Cone, Mrs. Duke, and Miss Dixie Gilcrease of Jacksonville.

Immediately following the ceremony, a buffet supper was served in the dining room, and the bride's cake, a beautiful, three-tier confection in all white, was cut.

The table was laid in an exquisite Normandy, hand-made lace cloth, and at the center front reposed the bride's cake surrounded with soft, lacy fern. At the center back was an artistic arrangement of white stocks, blue bells, and pink dahlias, combined with sprays of delicate baby's breath in a silver bowl. On either side, tall, white tapers glowed in silver candlesticks.

Mrs. Tower, seated at one side, presided over the meat course, and Mrs. Duke seated opposite her, served the salad. About the table were silver trays of decorated open-face sandwiches and mints in the pastel shades.

The menu included chicken a la king in Swedish timbals, stuffed tomato salad, open-face sandwiches, Ritz wafers, mints, cold tea, yellow and white brick ice cream and the bride's cake.

The bride cut the cake, and Misses Eva Louise Houston, Elizabeth and Mariana Sowell assisted in serving the guests.

NO CONSTITUTIONAL FIGHT NOW

It appears, from recent developments at Washington, that there is not going to be any constitutional struggle just now, at least. And, most Americans breathe a sigh of relief. For an immediate fight to "liberalize" the Constitution would mean a bitter, prolonged struggle, bringing further confusion into our public life and retarding economic recovery.

It may be, as many liberals argue, that the Supreme Court has been needlessly conservative in its literal interpretation of the Constitution as written, with respect to legislative and executive powers and interstate commerce. It may even be, as some still argue after the issue has been settled in practice for a century, that nothing in the written Constitution gives the Supreme Court authority to overrule any act of Congress. But these are theoretical questions which can be debated more fruitfully in quieter and safer days. The problem now is to restore employment, business activity and prosperity before the country is reduced to hopelessness by corroding depression. This can only be done by government, business and labor working together with a reasonable degree of harmony, in some practical system of compromise.

It is better, as matters stand, if business can and will maintain the essential principles of its own codes. If business cannot or will not prevent sweatshops, suicidal price-cutting, oppressive wage reduction, child labor and other harmful practices, then the obvious thing is for the government to go ahead with plans for a moderate federal control within the limits set by the Supreme Court, and for the states to cooperate as best they can. It will be time enough, when recovery is assured, to resume discussion of constitutional changes and provide new powers, if powers are needed, for handling or preventing the next depression.

"THESE G-GUYS"

A n o t h e r compliment comes to the sleuths of the federal Department of Justice, and from a high authority. Volney Davis, prominent thug belonging to the Barker-Karpis "mob," pleading guilty to conspiracy in the Bremer kidnapping case, said:

"It's no use trying to beat these G-guys. They had it on me. The minute they read that indictment, I could see they knew as much about the kidnapping as I did. They had the straight stuff—almost exactly as it was pulled. I'm glad it's over with. I'll take the book (life imprisonment) and be done with the thing."

Good Americans thrill with satisfaction at every new demonstration of this effective coping with violent crime, after long failure, by using the resources of the federal government to do what state and local resources have failed to do. This sort of activity may seem, in many cases, an invasion of state rights or duties, but the states themselves welcome the help.

The Kansas weather drives farmers into the cellar to get away from the dust, then it drives them up a tree to get away from the floods, and yet outsiders expect 'em to be calm and consistent.

JUST FOLKS

(Copyright, 1932, Edna A. Guest.)

AT A WEDDING.
I never hear them spoken by a young and lovely bride
But I have a curious feeling
And a lump comes in my throat
And I wonder if that fellow who
Is standing at her side
Appreciates the meaning of the Vows they glibly quote.
"For richer, for poorer," and "for better or for worse."
"In sickness and in health," so the promises are made Through all the years shall bring them! Oh, there's much I could rehearse
To be suffered on the long road which should make them both afraid.
And I think how she will need him in the days that are to be.
And I pray when come the trials he will prove himself a man.
There'll be all the hurts to cope with which have come to her and me,
When only love can save them and there's nothing else that can.

EROSION CONTROL

The floods which followed the dust storms in the recently drouth-stricken states serve dramatically to illustrate the fact that soil erosion is just as serious a problem in wet seasons as in dry ones. Erosion control is vitally important. It is as bad to have good earth washed away in torrential rains and rushing floods as to have it blown away by the wind.

Erosion control has been talked about for a long time, but not many Americans have given it serious attention. It is a project which cannot be completed in a hurry, but calls for study, scientific planning and continuous work over many years.

Much of the ground-work study has been completed. There are experts in this field who know what is needed and how erosion control can best be accomplished. The next thing is to make their plans effective for the large area involved in the current floods and the earlier dust storms. It is a job in which individuals, local communities, state and federal governments all have a share and in which all should co-operate.

INHERITANCE TAXES

Heavier federal taxes of some kind will be needed soon to start paying off the rising recovery debt. The administration proposes to leave federal income taxes about as they are, at a moderately low level, keep the "nuisance taxes" adopted for emergency, and raise inheritance and gift taxes.

All taxes are bad; but this plan, everything considered, may be as good as any for the immediate future. A severe increase of taxes on personal and business incomes would be a drag on recovery and new investment, at a time when the encouragement is needed. Inheritance taxes are probably felt less than any other form of taxation, and are as legitimate a way as any to meet public expenses, and may have some social values. The same reasoning holds true of gifts made not for philanthropic purposes, but in anticipation of death and for avoidance of inheritance taxes.

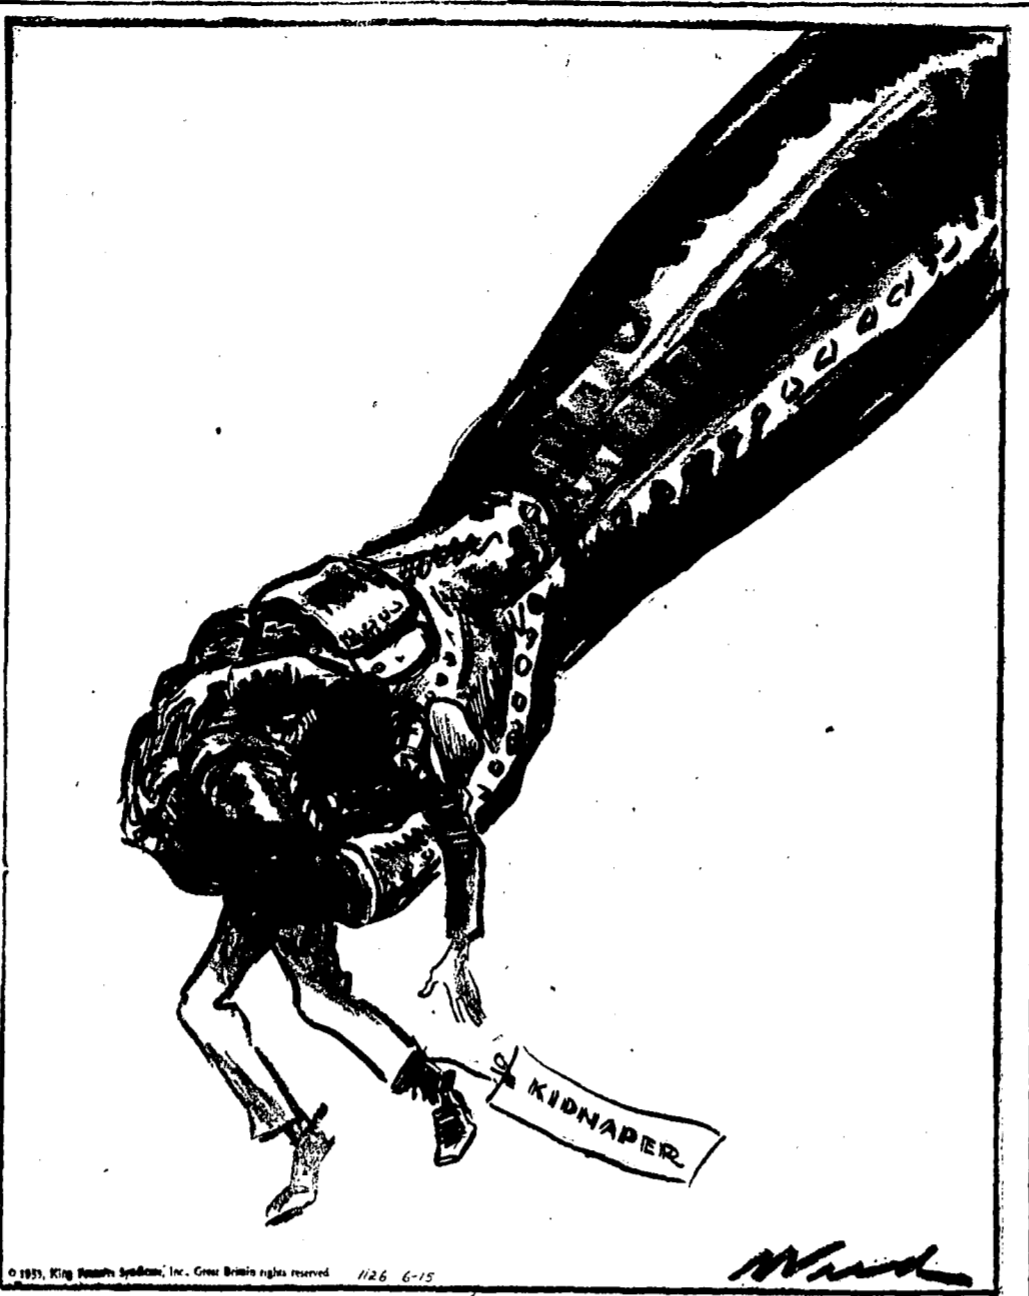

Colleges, art museums, and other philanthropic institutions are likely to lose by heavy taxes on big fortunes. There are fewer private "pools of wealth" left to support such activities. There are likewise fewer such pools left for capital investment in industry. But big business more and more gets its capital mainly from the far greater pools of capital held by insurance companies and trust funds. As for philanthropic institutions, the tendency seems to be for them to get more of their support from the federal and state governments.

Speaking of the growing oppression of state governments by the federal government, Michigan has applied for $1,250,000,000 for federal relief projects. And now comes a volunteer lady economist saying that "people have made more money out of chain letters than they ever did under NRA."

The only bad thing about these ultra-streamlined cars is that it's so hard to avoid stepping on their tails.

THAT IRON-CLAD LAW?

CODELESS NRA

President Harper Sibley of the United States Chamber of Commerce says the President's proposal of a "codeless NRA"—that is, voluntary enforcement of code principles—is "exactly what business has been seeking." Business groups, he thinks, can and will enforce provisions for minimum wages, maximum hours, and so on, and do it more effectively than the government could by regulation.

"All across the country," he says, "business men of substance are living up to the gains of NRA—and there have been gains. We all admit that. I believe there is a much greater likelihood that, as a permanent proposition, business men will support a program which they enter voluntarily better than a program enforced by some federal bureau." He hopes for this improvement through the development of a "social conscience" as a substitute for legislation.

The public hopes for it, too, though uneasily aware of certain chiseling minorities that seem to be already at work. It is better, if possible, to have business self-regulating. The experience is worth while. We shall all know more about it a year from now.

FOUR OF A KIND

Four human beings may not equal a straight flush, but surely a set of American quadruplets deserve more appreciation than they have had, in comparison with the glory of that Canadian quintette. They are the Keys sisters—Mary, Mona, Roberta and Leona—of Hollis, Okla.

These charming young ladies celebrated their twentieth birthday on June 4, so shortly after the quintuplets' birthday that on that score alone they might invite comparison. They have never sought publicity. They may go on a tour during the summer, not as freaks but as self-respecting musicians. They have turned down offers to go on the stage and into the movies. They have just finished their sophomore year in Baylor University at Waco. Their primary interest is getting an education.

Nobody wants to be unfair to those roly-poly quintuplets, and nobody can deny their charm and appeal, individual and multiple. At the same time, in view of their ancestry, it requires a considerable stretch of imagination to picture them ever taking much interest in education.

CHAMPION SPELLERS

Spelling, along with some other "old-fashioned" subjects, has been taking so many knocks lately that newspapers learn with a little surprise that an eighth grade girl from a school near Akron, O., has just won the "national grade school spelling championship." The final competition was held in Washington, D. C., with competent young spellers from all over the country. The thing began to get exciting when the field was narrowed down to two boys, from Illinois and New York, and the girl from Ohio.

One of the lads missed "obelisk." The other missed "interne." Then the girl got safely through "intelligible," and the thing was over.

Why work so hard at learning to spell when you can always look up any difficult word in the dictionary? Well, in this case, it won the young lady a prize of $500, which she's putting into a college fund. Furthermore, though it is possible our grandparents put too much time and energy on spelling in their school days, it is still a subject not to be lightly dismissed as unnecessary. Perhaps we'd care more about the meaning and right use of words if we knew how to spell more of them.

PILED-UP MONEY

The country's gold stock keeps right on growing. There were $81,000,000 added to it in the last recorded week, making a gain of $1,126,000,000 in twelve months and a present total of nearly $9,000,000,000 in the federal treasury.

Money deposited in banks keeps on growing likewise. Idle funds increased $87,000,000 for the week ending June 5, making a gain of $1,127,000,000 in 12 months and a total of nearly $5,000,000,000.

Bank funds are still "a drug on the market." The currency and credit actually existing could be expanded automatically to a vast extent if there were a real demand for it for business expansion. Bankers insist that they want to lend it, and some are frank enough to admit that there is no profit in banking unless they can do so, at fair interest rates. Business improves, but business men will not yet borrow extensively for new enterprises.

With all the accumulated needs in this country, the money jam has to break sooner or later. It may come this year.

GENERAL STRIKE CALLED FOR MONDAY CALLED OFF UNTIL JULY 1 AT LEAST

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today personally asked that the threatened strike in the bituminous industry be called off until July 1 and both union and operators' leaders agreed to recommend it to conferences of laborers tomorrow.

"The president suggested—after canvassing the legislative situation—that in the public interest he would request the operators and miners to extend the status quo of the wage agreements in the industry until July 1 and save the country the expense and inconvenience of a suspension of work," Lewis said.

The president, the union chief added, based his request on the legislative situation and expressed hope for enactment of the Guffey coal stabilization bill to create a "little NRA" for the soft coal industry.

West Point Grad Indicted Result Bombing Threat

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(AP)—Tra B. B. Graded from West Point two years ago was indicted today by a District of Columbia grand jury for threatening to bomb the White House.

The former army officer, who is now serving time in the District jail for disorderly conduct, was pronounced insane by District attorneys. His indictment, the first here for making threats against the president, presumably was returned to facilitate his commitment to St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

Secret service operatives turned the case over to the United States attorney after B. B. was given the following letter to President Roosevelt last May 30:

"I, West Point grad, June, 1933, will bomb your quarters. Be careful. I have been seeing job. Am desperate. Will commit desperate deed to secure economic security."

INVESTIGATION OF TWO DEATHS WACO STARTED BY POLICE

CALVERT RESIDENT AND SCHOOL TEACHER VICTIMS TOURIST CAMP BLAZE

WACO, June 14.—(AP)—Investigation into the flaming death of two prominent central Texans, Guy Anderson, 45, cotton buyer of Calvert, and Dorothy Buchanan, 25, Waco school teacher, burned in a tourist cabin fire last night, was started by police today.

Inquest in the death of the pair was planned as police sought the cause of the blaze. A Miss Buchanan, daughter of a prominent Wacoan, was trapped in the bathroom of the tourist park cabin after an explosion caused the structure with flames.

Her body was found beneath a shower, firemen said.

Anderson sought his way outside the burning cabin and collapsed in the arms of firemen.

"There is a woman in there," firemen quoted him as saying.

Anderson clothed only in a pair of shorts, and badly burned, was rushed to a hospital, where he died a few minutes later without regaining consciousness.

Firemen reported gas jets in the room were closed. The fire occurred about two hours and a half after Anderson had registered at the camp as "C. H. Chumley and wife, Longview, Texas."

Police quoted employees at the tourist camp as saying that Anderson registered alone, and Miss Buchanan came to the cabin later.

A case of liquor was found in Anderson's automobile, police said, and several liquor bottles were found in the cabin.

Miss Buchanan, daughter of O. M. Buchanan, formerly taught school near Calvert. Friends said her family apparently was not acquainted with Anderson. Her brothers are leading Waco business men. Her relatives declined to make a statement.

Anderson's identity was established shortly after the fire by letters and documents in his billfold. He formerly was a member of the Board of Regents of Texas A. and M. College, and was the son of W. C. Anderson, one of the state's largest cotton growers.

He is survived by his widow, a son, Guy T. Anderson, Jr., and two brothers, Conney and W. Anderson. He formerly played football at the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn.

Armistice Takes Effect In Chaco Sector at Noon

BUENOS AIRES, June 14.—(AP)—A ten-day truce took effect in the Chaco at noon today, the Bolivian and Paraguayan general staffs issuing the "cease firing" orders.

The fighting, which had virtually halted several hours before.

Word of the peace protocol signed here this week reached the battle lines Wednesday and quiet overnight and this morning.

With the end of three years of fighting in which an estimated 100,000 men died, the peace machine, consisting of representatives of six neutral American nations begins operation here.

First step is ratification of the protocol by congresses of the belligerents. A formal 12-day truce begins tonight, during which time the mediators and Paraguayan and belligerents will discuss demobilization and demilitarization of the disputed zone.

A neutral military commission on which Capt. Frederick Sharp, military attaché here, represented the United States, was at the front to oversee suspension of hostilities.

HOUSE PASSES NEW MEASURE AFTER ONE HOUR DEBATE FRIDAY

SOME REMARKS ABOUT RARE TYPE "GAG RULE"; REPUBLICANS OPPOSE

WASHINGTON, June 14. (P)—Racing against a Sunday night deadline, the house today speedily agreed to Senate amendments to the resolution extending the abbreviated NRA to next April 1 and sent the measure to President Roosevelt for his signature.

The vote for the NRA resolution was 338 to 30. Passage came after only 40 minutes of debate.

Not even the full hour of allowed debate was utilized, the republicans apparently conceding that their attempts to defeat the huge house democratic majority would be unsuccessful.

When the special resolution accepting the senate amendment to the measure was called up, Representative Michener (R-Mich.) remarked:

"Unless I am misinformed, only one rule like this has ever been brought before the house. This is a rare type of rule."

The Harrison-Borah anti-trust amendment, said Representative Jenkins (R-Ohio), "improves the bill."

"We Republicans contend," he asserted, "that the NRA either should be continued or allowed to die and not extended in this half-dead shape."

Jenkins added that the "president will never live long enough to stop wishing that he could withdraw the remarks he made about a constitutional amendment," replacing NRA.

Quick House Action Expected. WASHINGTON, June 14.—(P)—Roosevelt leaders expected the house to snap through the stop-gap NRA plan today and save the blue eagle agency from fading away completely at the expiration of the old recovery law Sunday.

The leaders looked for no such trouble as the filibuster with which Senator Long (D-La.) kept the senate awake all Wednesday night before it could pass the NRA extension measure.

The objective today was to pass the resolution allowing to President Roosevelt in an unlimited NRA until next April 1. One of its principal tasks would be to check up on industrial and labor conditions before and after compulsory codes were scrapped.

LAST TWO MILLION OF RELIEF BONDS ARE SOLD FRIDAY

PREMIUM IS PAID BY SYNDICATE; MUST CARE FOR ALL 1935

AUSTIN, June 14.—(P)—The last $2,000,000 of $20,000 Texas relief bonds voted in 1933 were sold today to provide the state's share on relief costs for the remainder of 1935.

A syndicate of nine concerns represented by Garrett and company, Dallas, paid a premium of $1,202 for the bonds at 2 1/2 per cent interest on $1,450,000 maturing from 1936 through 1941, and 3 1/4 per cent on $540,000 maturing from 1942 through 1943.

The state bond commission calculated the net cost to the state under the Garrett bid at $222,322. While the bid was $255,000, calculated on a bid of a syndicate represented by A. W. Snyder and company, Houston. Four bids were received.

Proceeds of the sale would become available to the commission by the board of control, state relief administrators, in the latter part of July. Expenditure of the final $3,500,000 of which the current sale was a part, was budgeted by the legislature at $400,000 monthly from May through November, and $700,000 in December.

Charles Lockhart, state treasurer, and members of the commission, were present, while Scott Gaines, first assistant, represented Attorney General William McCraw and Pat Dooley, chief clerk, represented Comptroller General H. S. Shivers.

Other members of the syndicate which Garrett and Company bid were Pressprich and Co. of New York, Stern Bros. and Co. of Kansas City, St. Louis, Nichols and Co. of St. Louis, Wells-Dickey Co. of Minneapolis, City National Bank of Kansas City, Kaiman and Co. of St. Paul, the Milwaukee Company of Milwaukee, and Mahan, Dittmer and Co. of San Antonio.

GENE HOWE SAYS ROOSEVELT HAS LOST POWER BUT NOT HIS POPULARITY; ADVISORS CHANGE

EDITOR'S NOTE: In 1930, James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany, listed sixty-three persons as the leading influences in the United States. Last year Gene Howe, Amarillo (Texas) editor and son of Ed Howe, famous Kansas editor, declared that Roosevelt controlled the political destinies of the United States. He said that Mr. Roosevelt "has lost much of his power, but not his popularity." In listing the influential persons he says there has been an "astounding change" in the present advisers.

The following article by Mr. Howe is of course, his own and is presented for the news interest they contain.

By GENE HOWE
Editor, The Amarillo Globe-News

AMARILLO, June 14.—(P)—In selecting 50 persons who are having the most effect on the immediate future of the nation, as was done last year, it cannot be said they are in control.

There has been an astonishing change in the president's advisers.

The country is bewildered, but the men and one woman having the greatest influence upon it are easily discerned.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who, a year ago, had complete mastery of the nation, is besieged and assailed by excited minorities which have thrown the country into confusion.

Roosevelt has lost much of his power but not his popularity.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, is close to Roosevelt in popularity and is his greatest aid from a political standpoint.

President Roosevelt is followed by the nine horse and buggy members of the supreme court.

Microphone Presence. Roosevelt has the greatest microphone presence and the most amazing news re-alleure of all time. He is quiet, dignified but emotional, appeal or pull in his voice that penetrates to the very depths of the hearts of the American people, particularly the women.

Women folks love him and they constitute his strongest bloc. We have the unknown soldier and other unknowns, and also the unknown advisor.

He is the man who advised Roosevelt to plant a shelter belt from the Panhandle of Texas to Montana.

Close after the members of the supreme court come Huey Long and President Herbert Hoover. Long's power is diminishing and he is being largely offset by Hoover in his interviews and public addresses.

Father Coughlin is a modern which burner, but he makes the great mistake of talking too often and too much and of taking sides in too many issues.

Farley has Quick Access. Postmaster General Farley has the quickest access to the president and Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, has the president's ear as well as his confidence.

Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, has the closest proximity to Farley because of the enemies he stirs up among democratic leaders and party friends.

Harry Hopkins is closer to Roosevelt than he has ever been. Both are spenders and both speak the same language.

The one woman on the list is Countess Court Haugwitz-Reventlow, the former Barbara Hutton Midway, the Associated Press story, whose distribution of wealth in Europe has stimulated public sentiment in favor of greatly increased inheritance taxes.

Mrs. Roosevelt now is not consulted. She is not only the life of the party, the democratic party, but of the whole nation. She has the vitality of a Tarzan and continues to enjoy herself hugely.

Call on Stable Men. Roosevelt more and more is calling in such men as John Garner, who has surmounted the vice-presidency, and will be renominated. Jesse Jones, chairman of the RFC, the hardest working and most capable executive in Washington; Joe Kennedy, chairman of the SEC; Frank Walker, chairman of the national emergency council; Senator Joe Robinson; Senator Pat Harrison; Dr. William I. Myers, of the farm credit administration, a brain trust who has not been shelved; Mariner S. Eccles, governor federal reserve board; Francis Biddle, chairman national labor relations board, and others of their type.

The widespread, pitiless publicity Countess Haugwitz-Reventlow has had in the newspapers of wealthy publishers has had more effect on the American voters than can be offset by editorials in the same newspapers against higher income and higher death taxes.

Countess Haugwitz-Reventlow has had more effect on the American voters than can be offset by editorials in the same newspapers against higher income and higher death taxes.

One of the largest minorities in the United States is represented by those who favor the Townsend Plan or some compromise offering more than 15 months. There are millions who will vote for the party that promises them the most.

Bankers-Business Men Absent. The complete list of 50 persons does not include bankers or industrialists or big business men. The line-up is almost wholly political with an array of publishers who are making the fight of their lives to maintain the power of the press.

The list follows: President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Charles Evans Hughes, chief justice of the supreme court, Willis Van Devanter, associate justice.

James Clark McReynolds, associate justice.

Louis D. Brandies, associate justice.

George Sutherland, associate justice.

Pierce Butler, associate justice.

Harlan F. Stone, associate justice.

Owen J. Roberts, associate justice.

Benjamin N. Cardozo, associate justice.

Cordell Hull, secretary of state.

Henry Morgenthau, Jr., secretary of the treasury.

James A. Farley, postmaster general.

Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior.

Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture.

Daniel C. Roper, secretary of commerce.

John N. Garner, vice-president.

By the two listed.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation.

Senator Huey Long.

Former President Herbert Hoover.

The unknown advisor.

Frank C. Walker, chairman national emergency council.

MUCH DAMAGE IN CENTRAL TEXAS AS RESULT HIGH WATER

MILFORD, ELLIS COUNTY, REPORTS TWELVE INCH RAIN FRIDAY NIGHT

Cloudbursts and high waters were playing havoc in Central Texas today with communication and transportation systems, and heavy downpours were reported continuing at numerous points, aggravating already serious conditions.

Milford, in Ellis county, reported the most extensive damage as a result of a downpour between 10 and 12 o'clock last night estimated at 12 inches by F. R. Goodwin, Milford market owner.

Mr. Goodwin reported that a number of houses resting on the mill and creek valleys were washed away, and in other instances automobiles, binders and barns were washed away by the torrent of water.

The Deford family residing near the old Files Crossing on Mill creek, was forced to take refuge in the upper part of the house and were rescued early this morning, as the waters receded slightly.

Mrs. Deford was reported in a hysterical condition when rescued, but was calm and collected this morning. The water at this point was the highest in 50 years.

Mr. Goodwin said.

Highway Damaged. He also reported that about twenty feet of the dump under the north approach to the Mill creek bridge on the Milford-Waxahachie highway had been washed out from under the concrete, and cars were being allowed to cross at their own risk.

About 100 feet of Interurban tracks was reported washed off the rails north of Milford, and a washout on the Katy was reported near Italy.

All bridges over Mill and Richland creeks on lateral roads were reported in danger of being washed away, and the town was almost isolated. Mr. Goodwin reported.

He stated that the Deford family residence had both ends washed away by the flood and the house collapsed when the residents were rescued.

Eight Inches Hillsboro. Hillsboro telephone officials reported an estimated eight inches of rain there Friday night and heavy downpours continuing this morning. Washouts were reported on the highways to Fort Worth and Italy.

Navarro County Is Assured One of Best Feed Crops in Years

SUFFICIENT MOISTURE RECEIVED—RAIN GENERAL OVER COUNTY TODAY

A good rain Saturday morning preceded by showers during the last few days assured Navarro county the best feed crop in years.

Corn, which has grown steadily since the May rains and had not suffered in the least from hot dry weather, will be made by the rain. Row crops likewise will receive enough moisture to mature without further rains.

Corn, maize, hedges and other feed crops have done exceptionally well this year and farm prospects generally are the brightest in years. There has been an increase in acreage of all feed crops this year.

Oats Produced Well. Oats produced well and practically all of them were cut during the fair weather following the rain last month. Farmers were fortunate in being able to save their oats. Threshing has started in some sections of the county and will get well underway when the weather clears.

The acres planted in oats this year was about an average or perhaps a little more, and this combined with a good production makes an excellent feed crop alone.

Corn, growing well. Some of it is a little late but there is plenty of time for a good cotton crop. Some of the farmers got behind with their work during the rainy season but met with them well up when the showers started falling this week. In fact practically all of the farmers were wanting rain.

Local Rainfall. Combining the feed crop with the prospects for at least an average cotton crop, taking into consideration the reduced acreage, and a potential 12 cent price, the farmers of Navarro county are facing the most optimistic outlook in years.

The rainfall in Corsicana for the 24-hour period ending at 7 o'clock Saturday morning was .33 of an inch as a result of showers during the night. A heavy rain started falling about 8 o'clock Saturday morning and soon spread to all parts of the county.

The heaviest rain was in the western section in the vicinity of Dawson and Frost. Kerens and some of the other eastern sections reported that a good rain had fallen but it was not as heavy as in Corsicana. Richland, Purdon, Powell, Roane, Barry, Blooming, Grove, Rice, Emhouse and other towns reported good rains and in most instances they were about the same as here.

Navarro county was more fortunate than some of the neighboring counties where rains of almost waterspout proportions fell. Bardwell and Boyce in Ellis county reported floods and heavy damage while Milford in Hill county reported a 12-inch rain. Highways and railroads were badly damaged and traffic stopped in that section.

Richland creek may be forced out of banks by the heavy rains in that section but the other creeks in the county are not expected to overflow.

BURLINGTON AND KATY ARE USING SOUTHERN PACIFIC TRACKS TO WAXAHACHIE

All Katy and Burlington neighborhood trains were being routed out of Corsicana over Southern Pacific tracks to Ennis and Waxahachie Saturday afternoon because of washouts and high water. Southern Pacific tracks were reported damaged but still intact.

The Katy was reported to have two washouts between Waxahachie and Hillsboro, one near Hillsboro and the other near Fort Worth and Denver.

Burlington was reported to have lost some trackage near Onion and Waxahachie creeks in Ellis county, and also to have flooded yards and depot in Waxahachie.

Slow signals were displayed along some trackage on the Fort Worth-Ennis division of the Southern Pacific where washouts are damaged, and also between Dallas and Ennis. Water in Chambers creek was reported within twenty-eight inches of the steel girders of the railroad bridge north of Corsicana about noon.

Police officers were ordered by police clubs or were struck by missiles. Forty-one policemen who received treatment for scratches and bruises and who returned to duty are not counted among the casualties.

Duster, who fell in the first blaze of fire from police riot guns, lay for several hours in a morgue before his body was identified by a brother-in-law. Duster is survived by a widow and a small daughter.

At the height of the disorders, Chief of Police Robert Samardick and Mayor Roy N. Towel urged the citizens to remain calm and quiet, acting governor, at Norfolk, Neb., to call out the militia. Jurgensen denied the request and suggested that the sheriff swear in a law army of deputies.

Police Shot Into Crowd. The disorders, the third in as many days, broke out at 4:40 and

NEW FACE WASHING

WASHING THE FACE
Having decided that women wash their faces, the modern beauty shops advocate a thorough method more drastic and more effective than the old ways. Miss Forbes tells of it.

Beauticians—as some of them call themselves—cosmeticians, and others who tell us how to make ourselves better looking, have agreed on the value of a new sort of way to wash the face. Thank goodness, they allow us to wash our faces in any sort of fashion these days! Until recently, the high-priced beauty shops raised hands in horror at the idea of soap and water touching the skin. Soap—at 35c a cake—for the hands, yes, but never for the face. Creams at several dollars a jar for that.

Now you may not only wash your face, you may scrub it. With soap, water and a brush, and if you aren't clean then you certainly never will be. One concern gets out a soft creamy lather soap in a bowl and you have a nice brush to dip into it, and to go over your face. Some of the face brushes look like men's shaving brushes, and some like large nail brushes, with softer bristles. They come in sets, at various prices, of course. This sort of face cleansing is a good idea, really, but you need not buy the very expensive sets. We have used for too much cold cream on our skins for some time, and any method that gets down into the pores and gets rid of this is a good one. Face scrubbing in this manner is like teeth scrubbing; the brush bristles help a lot. Not only to cleanse, but to stimulate the circulation as well and to wake up to life a sluggish skin. Try it for blackheads, for oily skin, for coarse pores.

A hand brush, not too stiff, will do, softened with hot water and full of soap. This must be a good quality, pure oil, lather soap. Try gentle ideal for all purposes. Scrub until the face is rosy, rinse with hot water and if the skin seems dry after its final cold rinse, rub on a little almond oil. Not cream this time, but almond oil, which feeds the skin and cannot clog the pores at all.

Mrs. G.—There is no reason why a baby should ever begin to suck its thumb, or begin to do anything that will soon become a troublesome habit that will be injurious to it. If the habit has formed though, it should be broken as quickly as possible, as it will spoil the shape of the mouth and jaw.

M. L. S.—Never use the nozzle of the vibrator directly on the eyelids, or anywhere that is close to the eyes at all. You will be able to get plenty of vibration through your fingers if you place them over the lids and run the nozzle over these. You should keep to a very light treatment for the face, but it may be much heavier for the scalp or anywhere else over the body.

Additional Jobs For Katy Shopmen Waco and Parsons

DALLAS, June 14.—(P)—Matthew S. Sloan, board chairman and president of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad, announced plans today for increasing employment at the road's locomotive shops at Waco, Texas, and Parsons, Kan., by more than 600 men commencing July 1.

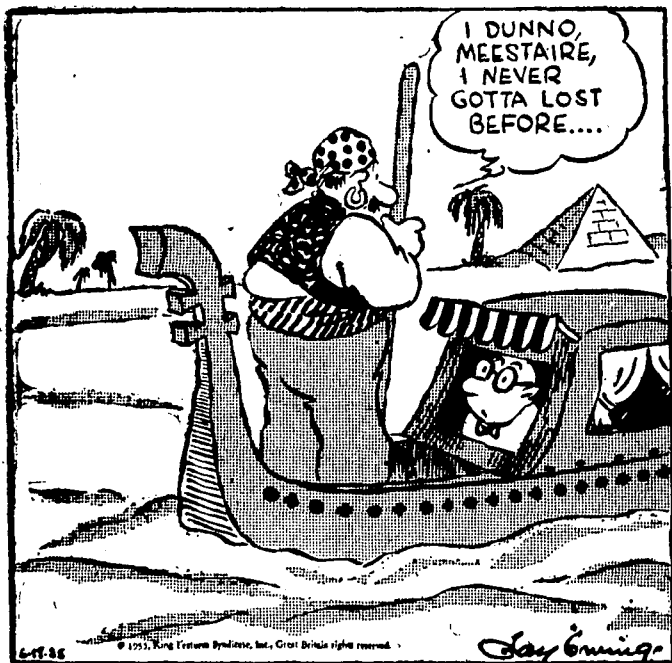

The enlargement of the shop forces, Sloan said, had been decided upon in anticipation of a pick-up in business this summer and fall.

"Heavy rains have caused widespread damage said through Katy territory," he said, "but they have also been responsible for very favorable crop conditions. Crops along our lines in Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas are generally in better condition than they have been in recent years."

Sloan said damage caused to lines at several points by high water was being repaired rapidly.

"Regular service soon will be restored on all Katy rails," he declared "the flood damage to the Katy will probably not exceed $225,000."

Gonzales was flooded. More than 7,000 acres of cotton and thousands acres of other crops were under water in the valley of the Guadalupe and Sacramento rivers. The crop losses roughly set at half a million dollars.

In the Guadalupe stood at 33 feet. No further rise was expected.

Meanwhile, flooded conditions extended to north Texas. A 42.1 inches of rain over the entire Paris reported the Red boundary line between Texas and Oklahoma, flooded Federal Highway 101. The Free Bridge was washed away at the town of Hugo, Okla. All traffic was stopped as the river reached nearly a foot above the previous high point this year.

Communication was finally established in Camp Wood, where the Regan Well, near the three towns had been drilled since Tuesday night. The inhabitants of the towns, as well as lines went out these other outlying districts pro damage was found to be larger than previously expected. Southern Pacific workers at rebuilding the Nueces bridge, but there was no estimate as when service would be restored.

Charge of the weather bureau at Brownsville, said the river at Rio Grande City was at a stage of 64 since yesterday afternoon. The water continued to rise into the Hidalgo county lands south of Mission. Employees of the International Boundary Commission continued to patrol the levees in Carrizosa, but reported they could not find any signs of holding in. Reports that no rain had fallen in the vicinity of Monterrey, Co., allayed fears that the Rio Grande at Rio Grande City would augment the already swollen waters.

the situation at Brownsville, in the vicinity of Matamoros, Mexico, and the Rio Grande remained unchanged for a day. Mexican federal forces devoted their efforts to the area around Matamoros, having done those between Matamoros and Reynosa, farther upstream.

Jose Ramirez, engineer in charge, predicted 70 per cent of the crops in the Matamoros and Reynosa section would be lost.

height, damage was estimated more than $2,500,000 by the Federal Emergency Management Agency. The crushed debris of the municipal power plant plunged the city into darkness. Water supply was temporarily cut off.

Mayor Miller expressed his hope that more than $10 million would be needed to rebuild the city.

Bastrop Residents Flee

Downstream at Bastrop, 24,000 residents fled their homes as the river rose to 52 feet. The water backed into low areas of the town and some small houses were carried away.

Five hundred CCC camp

Raymond, director of the Red Cross in Travis county, provided living quarters in the public mounds and in an oil mill for about 100 Austins homeless. Expenditures for necessary funds for food and clothing were authorized.

Mayor Miller said repairs to the Austin power plant were rushed, and asked citizens to conserve the water supply. 100,000 gallons of water in the reserve reservoir would be city through the emergency, he reported.

About 30 persons who had been a terror-stricken night in the

The Austin municipal dam, which the Congress Avenue bridge crosses, continued to hold although the superstructure on the dam was destroyed.

At Gonzales, the Gaudalupde and San Marcos rivers had overflowed over 30,000 acres and it is estimated that at least $600,000 damage was done. County J. M. Saunders reported that it would be a total loss.

LASKA CONVICTED OF CONSPIRACY IN URSCHEL KIDNAPING

WOMAN ATTORNEY, STAR
DEFENSE WITNESS, ARREST-ED ON PERJURY CHARGE

By FRANCIS BARDEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 15.—(AP)—A few minutes after Ben B. Laska, Denver attorney was convicted of conspiracy in the disposition of the Charles F. Urschel kidnap ransom, his star defense witness, Mrs. Molly O. Edison, also a Denver attorney, was arrested on a federal charge of perjury.

The arrest, immediately after the sealed verdict against Laska was read, came as a surprise to the crowded court room.

Laska, voluble defender of kidnapers, the twentieth person convicted for a part in the $200,000 Charles F. Urschel kidnaping, spluttered:

"It's one of the most inconsistent prosecutions in America. It's persecution, pure and simple. That jury, that court, that judge, considered the evidence. It had its mind made up. Each and every one of those jurors took an oath to listen fairly to all the testimony and they did not do it—they violated that oath."

Mrs. Edison, shocked and tearful at the verdict, appeared stunned by her arrest.

She immediately was arraigned and pleaded not guilty.

Laska sprang to her defense shouting:

"This is an outrage. There's nothing to it. They're prejudiced against me and everybody who tries to help me."

Mrs. Edison, attractive young attorney, wore a dark mannish suit and a pin-neck.

Had Contradicted Feldman.

She had testified in behalf of Laska that Edward Feldman, stepson of Albert Bates, who paid Laska $2,970 in bills of varying denominations instead of in the $20 ransom notes as Feldman testified.

Bond for Mrs. Edison was set at $5,000, pending preliminary hearing set for Friday, June 21.

Laska, voluble Denver attorney, was the first defender of kidnapers to be prosecuted by the federal government on the conspiracy charge.

The verdict was returned last night after an hour and ten minutes deliberation but was sealed and not opened until after court convened at 9:30 a. m. today.

James C. Moore, young Oklahoma City attorney jointly accused with Laska, was freed on a directed verdict of acquittal.

Can't Understand Arrest.

Mrs. Edison was arraigned before George J. Eacook, U. S. commissioner.

"I can't understand why I was arrested," she said. "I merely told the truth. It looks as though this is persecution rather than prosecution."

She regained her composure after her arraignment and endeavored to smile. Laska, jittery throughout the trial, was dead calm after the arrest of Mrs. Edison.

Mrs. Clara Feldman, her son, Edward, and Alvin Scott, who pleaded guilty several months ago to conspiracy charges in connection with disposition of Bates' ransom, were taken to court.

Judge Vaughn set July 2 for a hearing on Laska's motion for a new trial and indicated it would be overruled and Laska sentenced at that time.

The maximum sentence is life imprisonment.

ATHENS COTTON MAN FORCES SWINDLERS TO RETURN MONEY

MIAMI, Fla., June 15.—(AP)—A radio message that sent a squad of officers to meet the steamship Algonquin when it docked here today from Galveston resulted in the detention of two men on complaint of Arch Underwood, wealthy Texas cotton man, that they swindled him out of $100 in a card game.

J. O. Barker, police identification expert, said Underwood decided not to press charges against the men, after they returned his $100 to him.

They were about to be confronted by officers.

The radio message from Underwood resulted in federal agents, the customs office, United States marshals, police officers and police officers meeting the ship as it arrived from Texas.

Underwood and his family are en route from Texas to New York.

Barker said that since Underwood decided not to press the charge against the men, they probably would be sent out of the city.

Laska's Aid Arrested

Mrs. Molly Edison (above) Denver attorney, who was a star witness for Ben B. Laska in his trial on charges of conspiracy in connection with the Urschel ransom money, was arrested immediately following the conviction of Laska in Federal court at Oklahoma City Saturday. She was charged with perjury in connection with testimony in the case.

FORMER RESIDENT OF CORSICANA IS GIVEN PROMOTION

John C. Young, a product of Corsicana, manager of the office of the Texas Power and Light Company at Cameron for the past ten years, has been given a promotion by that company and has been transferred to Cleburne as manager. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Young of Corsicana.

In a recent article appearing in a Cameron newspaper, the following paragraphs were noted:

BODY OF MISSING JACKIE KAUL WAS FOUND IN RIVER

CHILD MISSING SINCE JUNE
6TH WAS BELIEVED HAVE BEEN KIDNAPED

NEW YORK, June 15.—(AP)—The body of little Jackie Kaul, 5, was recovered from the East River today, ending a frantic search which began June 6 when the boy disappeared from a playground in Manhattan's East Side.

The body was identified by the missing boy's father, John Kaul.

The body, taken from East River in the Bronx, ten miles from where he was last seen, was recovered from the Fordham hospital morgue by the father. He collapsed after making the identification.

Recovery of the body ended a police search that has progressed on two theories since the child's disappearance. One theory, believed by his mother, was that he had fallen into the river. Police also believed he might have been seized by a woman of frustrated maternal instincts.

The body was discovered today by Salvatore Lia, fishing at the foot of Tiffany street. He summoned a policeman, who, waiting until the current had carried the body to within wading distance, brought it ashore.

The lad was last seen on a playground near his home playing with a ball four days ago.

His mother feared from the start that he had been drowned, and police and volunteer searchers dragged the river, using grappling hooks under the pier southward from Sutton Place, the point of recovery was north of the neighborhood where he was last seen.

Assistant Medical Examiner Dr. Louis Lefkowitz said apparently the boy had been drowned. There were no indications of violence.

The body was removed to the Fordham hospital before the parents arrived at the scene to identify it.

An autopsy examination by an assistant medical examiner showed death was by drowning.

Aided by several policemen, the haggard father who had been nervously for the boy's body, viewed, walked into the morgue to identify his son, and moaned:

"Oh, Jackie."

Kaul slumped to the floor and was half dragged, half carried to an ante room where he was given medical aid.

Jackie's brother, George, made the official identification and then broke down and wept.

His Body Found

The body of Jackie Kaul, 5 (above) missing from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kaul, since June 6, was found in the East river Saturday. It was believed by police that he might have been kidnapped. The body was found ten miles from where he disappeared while playing near the river.

Benton Stricklin, sports writer, Cleburne Times-Review, had the following paragraphs recently about this fall which will be interesting to local grid enthusiasts, especially in view of the fact that the majority of the writers in this district have been touting Waco, Cleburne and other clubs as favorites since the close of the past campaign:

"Only one Corsicana Tiger prospect fell by the wayside in the battle with studies."

"Paul Moore, scribe from Tiger Town, reports that 34 of the 35 prospects of the Corsicana stars for next fall made their grades."

"In the hullaboo of making Cleburne, Waco and Temple favorites to battle it out for the district championship next season, the scribes seem to have forgotten all about Corsicana."

"The Tigers, however, are not to be shoved aside so easily. As long as Johnnie Elmer is there and keeps the present spirit flowing with his charges, Corsicana is going to be tough to take."

"Corsicana will be back next fall with a team just about as strong as last season. Cleburne and Waco will be improved. Temple and Hillsboro will be weaker. Corsicana has an even chance of repeating as the district championship outfit."

Stricklin is about right in his deductions and statements. The Bengals will have considerable to brag about this season. They go—and incidentally the Tigers will be after their sixth straight pennant.

Tentative plans are being made for one of the largest amateur athletic meet in the history of Dallas—an open soft ball tournament. Definite plans have not been worked out, but it is hoped that such a tournament can be started about Sept. 1 and will continue for several weeks for teams within 100 miles of Dallas. There are about 300 teams within that radius, Corsicana is included within that radius and may be represented in this tournament should it materialize.

Outstanding golfers will compete in the twenty-ninth annual championship tournament of the Texas Amateur Golf Association which will be held at the Brook Hollow Country club, Dallas.
